Talking About Teens

Our focus in October will be on teenagers as we celebrate Teen Read Week with special programs and a book discussion for teens and adults to enjoy together. Please drop by soon and encourage your young adult to explore what's new at FPL:

- Great new books for teens, including the Newbery Medal, Michael L. Printz, Pura Belpre, Coretta Scott King and National Book Award winners. Young Adult titles and paperbacks can be found just inside our front door. We also have a growing collection of graphic novels which are popular with teens, but an unknown genre to many adults. Please check them out!
- Magazines of interest to teens including GamePro, Glamour, PC World, Seventeen, Spin, Sports Illustrated, Teen People, YM, Wizard and Rolling Stone.
- Growing collections of award-winning classic and popular films in DVD format and music CDs. We're pleased to have new selections of world music, everything from Tibetan chants to sounds of the Asian rainforest to African drumming and Native American songs. All are perfect for both leisure listening and for adding another dimension to class reports.
- Not sure what to read or what your teen might like? Pick up one of our excellent suggested reading lists or check out our book reviews written by teen readers themselves.
- Computer glitch at home? The Library has five computers with internet access and friendly staff members to help with last minute homework questions seven days a week.
- And most of important of all, does your teen have a library card? It is the passport to lifelong learning. AND, some teachers have been known to give extra credit to students who have a library card or who attend library programs!

Pizza & Planning with T.A.G.

Make your voice heard at the library! Our new Teen Advisory Group will meet on Sat., Oct. 9 @ 1 p.m. to help make choices for purchases of new books, CDs and DVDs, and plan the next series of YA programs at the library. Current members and new members may attend, but please let us know if you are coming so we have enough pizza! (This session may be used to fulfill a community service requirement.)

Coming Soon: Let's Book!

Children's Book Week ~ Nov. 15 - 21

Teaming Up for Youth

Maritza Sheil & Pat Foxx

We are pleased to announce the formation of a new Youth Services team to plan and provide programs for all our preschool-teenage patrons. Three new Library Assistants for Children's Services, Maria Martinez, Pat Foxx and Maritza Sheil will conduct programs for the various ages six days a week.

Maria will be in charge of our preschool programs and also some Saturday sessions for elementary students. Pat, who joined us over the summer, will be responsible for Young Adult programs, as well as some for younger ages. She will be meeting with teens each month at our Teen Advisory Group meetings and seeking their input on library programs. Maritza is a native Spanish speaker who will lead the Bilingual Family Storytime and she will be hosting evening family programs, too.
